

Which are the main challenges of implementing initial and further vocational and other training initiatives in Arab countries?

- 1 School leavers are not sufficiently prepared.
- 2 The image of vocational training is not positive and income perspectives are not competitive to higher education careers.
- 3 The private sector relies on governmental initiatives – private sector strategies are needed.
- 4 Too many stakeholders are involved.

Which are the main challenges of implementing initial and further vocational and other training initiatives in Arab countries?

School leavers are not sufficiently prepared.

11.7 %

The image of vocational training is not positive and income perspectives are not competitive to higher education careers.

48.1 %

The private sector relies on governmental initiatives – private sector strategies are needed.

27.3 %

Too many stakeholders are involved.

13.0 %

Which of the following aspects would you prioritize?

- 1 Curricula development must better be linked to labour-market needs.
- 2 Training of trainers is of utmost importance.
- 3 The private sector needs to invest more to develop apprenticeship positions.
- 4 Modernization of training venues and equipment would be a solution.

Which of the following aspects would you prioritize?

Curricula development must better be linked to labour-market needs.

35.6 %

Training of trainers is of upmost importance.

38.4 %

The private sector needs to invest more to develop apprenticeship positions.

17.8 %

Modernization of training venues and equipment would be a solution.

8.2 %

Which of the following points would you consider most important to foster Arab-German cooperation?

- 1 German direct investments in the education sector.
- 2 Both sides need a better understanding of feasibility of joint projects (e.g. learning traditions).
- 3 Governmental support stimulates initial and sustainable cooperation.
- 4 The dialogue should be intensified – we need more platforms like the German-Arab Education and Vocational Training Forum.

Which of the following points would you consider most important to foster Arab-German cooperation?

German direct investments in the education sector.

9.4 %

Both sides need a better understanding of feasibility of joint projects (e.g. learning traditions).

56.2 %

Governmental support stimulates initial and sustainable cooperation.

12.5 %

The dialogue should be intensified – we need more platforms like the German-Arab Education and Vocational Training Forum.

21.9 %